To request a training: You may submit your request by accessing the Online Training Order Form direct link, through the Admin section on your organization's EAP site, or by working with your Account Manager.

Below are a few things to consider as you prepare to submit a training request:

- 1. Please request trainings 30 days in advance.
- Select programs that are appropriate for your organizational and employee needs and interests. If you need assistance or more information, call your Account Manager.
- Choose several dates and times that meet your scheduling requirements. For onsite trainings, please have a room reserved for requested dates.
- 4. Training session(s) logistics:
 - Number of attendees expected in each session; between 10 and 50 is recommended
 - Number of sessions requested
 - Participants (managers, employees, other)
 - Location of the training (onsite training)
 - Contact person's name, address, phone number and email address
 - Description of the room to be used (size, tables, etc.) for onsite trainings only
 - Language of training
- 5. Be prepared to share any relevant workplace history, incidents or information such as new policies or workplace changes that will be helpful to the trainer.

A cooperative effort ...

In order to maximize the training benefit, we ask you to:

- Have training space available to accommodate expected participants (onsite training).
- Have a flip chart or white board available and an overhead projector or LCD projector and laptop computer—onsite trainings only
- If scheduling back-to-back sessions, build in a 10 to15 minute break between sessions to allow time for the trainer to address any changes that may be needed and to allow any change of audience/comfort break for attendees attending multiple sessions.

Questions or concerns? Please reach out to your Account Manager or the Customer Training Team.

How to Manage Change, Manager

Targeted Audience: Managers and Supervisors

Delivery Time: U.S. 2-hours with Q&A, Non-U.S. 1-hour with Q&A

Supervisors face a double challenge during workplace transition. As employees, they're affected by the changes, but as supervisors they must lead others through change. This program is designed to support supervisors in the midst of a changing work environment. It also introduces the skills needed to assist employees in managing the process.

Participants will:

- Identify managerial transition strategies
- Examine employee morale and how that affects transitions
- Determine how to respond proactively to workplace transitions
- Develop strategies to ease transitions for employees and for yourself as a manager

Recommendations: This program is most effective when an HR representative attends. HR can address any questions about available employee resources, goals of the change and how the change is being implemented. This program is particularly helpful to employees prior to impending workplace change.

How to Use Conflict as Opportunity, Manager

Targeted Audience: Managers and Supervisors

Delivery Time: U.S. 3-hours with Q&A, Non-U.S. 1-hour with Q&A

In addition to the general information covered in the employee conflict presentation, this program focuses on sources of initial and ongoing conflict, negotiations, conflict analysis, the benefits of conflict, case studies and the anatomy of an argument. It also covers setting the stage, ground rules and procedures for conflict resolution.

Participants will:

- Explore how to view others objectively
- Assess personal conflict resolution style
- Discuss the value of conflict as an opportunity
- Examine how to improve communication skills
- Identify misunderstandings in conflict situations
- Apply and practice conflict resolution strategies

Recommendations: This program is most effective when management and HR are familiar with conflict resolution procedures and agree to implementation of the process. It's helpful to train designated managers and HR representatives to act as neutral third-party facilitators in the conflict-resolution process.

Intimate Partner and Family Violence Awareness for Managers

Targeted Audience: Managers and Supervisors

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

Intimate partner and family violence is on the rise, with the impact being felt beyond the home and into the workplace. Different types of violence and abuse can affect individuals in a myriad of complex ways. Reducing the stigma around family violence creates more opportunities to support survivors. This session is designed to help managers to identify and support employees experiencing intimate partner or family violence.

Participants will:

- Define domestic and family violence (DFV) and identify signs of abuse
- Understand the many forms of intimate partner and family violence
- Learn how to respond to DFV in the workplace
- Examine techniques for helping employees who have experienced family violence

Preventing Burnout for Managers

Targeted Audience: Managers and Supervisors

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

Recent evidence suggests that managers can influence employee burnout, directly and indirectly, through the actions they take and the health models that they too live by. What managers do and say matters. Even managers and supervisors who do not think they have a role as a health leader should consider attending this session because it will explore all the ways managers can help others to cope better with the strains of work-life. We will also investigate the limits and boundaries of a team leader's involvement in the health of their team.

Participants will:

- Understand recent research on managers' impact on burnout.
- Build awareness of the personal manager initiatives that can provide health leadership.
- Learn when and how to have conversations about health with team members.

Preventing Sexual Harassment, Managers (US Only)

Targeted Audience: Managers and Supervisors

Delivery Time: 2-hours with Q&A

Leaders within your organization must be prepared to take action if allegations of sexual (and other forms of) harassment are brought forward. Just as important, they must clearly understand how to address and prevent workplace conditions that may be conducive to sexual harassment. This training uses lecture, written exercises and group discussion.

Participants will:

- Increase sensitivity and understanding of sexual harassment, including federal laws and federal enforcement agencies focused on sexual harassment
- Increase understanding of federal and state laws about sexual harassment, including the history of the laws as well as an understanding of federal and state agencies that enforce those laws
- Increase awareness of issues involving Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender (LGBT) people in the workplace and how gender stereotyping plays a role in harassment
- Learn to respond appropriately and effectively to prevent allegations of sexual harassment
- Become proactive in preventing sexual harassment

Client information and recommendations: This program is most effective when a representative from the HR department attends and participates in the discussion. HR can address questions about your organization's specific policies and reporting procedures regarding sexual harassment. HR also might provide information regarding the prevalence of workplace sexual harassment complaints.

Due to legal constraints, our trainers cannot answer specific questions related to state or federal law, or interpret internal organizational policy.

Because this training program deals with laws, policies and specific behaviors — and is designed to keep the customer compliant — we're not willing to compromise the information contained within the program by offering it in an abbreviated time frame.

Substance Use Disorder in the Workplace: A Manager's Responsibilities

Targeted Audience: Managers and Supervisors

Delivery Time: U.S. 2-hours with Q&A, Non-U.S. 1-hour with Q&A

(If DOT is included, add 15 to 30 minutes)

Managers will learn important information about substance use and drug testing, including how to identify substance use issues in the workplace and how to address them based on company policy. How to confront an employee and document observations will also be discussed.

Participants will:

- Examine the most commonly abused drugs
- Identify helpful resources and how to use them
- Understand the extent of substance abuse in the workplace
- Reinforce skills to effectively deal with workplace performance or behavioral issues
- Recognize signs and symptoms that may impact a safe and productive work environment
- Explore actions and circumstances that make up "reasonable suspicion" and impairment

Recommendations: This program is most effective when an HR representative (or other appropriate staff) is present to address specific workplace policy information and to participate in the discussion.

U.S. Only: While numerous organizations use this program to meet department of transportation, department of defense and department of energy employee education requirements, it's the responsibility of the customer company to determine if this session will meet regulatory needs.

Note: Due to legal constraints, our trainers cannot answer specific questions related to state or federal law, or interpret internal organizational policy.

Best Practices for Hybrid Working

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

The working-from-home revolution has been accelerated by the pandemic and most organizations now report that they will implement new policies allowing hybrid remote and on-site working. This seismic move to hybridize working is not straightforward and is not always universally beneficial. People can be greatly affected by remote working in both good and bad ways. There is the allure of productivity gains, but everyone needs to adapt their working practices to reap these gains without excluding or favoring some colleagues. Fortunately, there is now some good research from which we can learn.

Participants will:

- Explore different types of hybrid work arrangements.
- Learn from research about the benefits and harms of hybrid working.
- Develop a personal action plan to help make the best of their own situation within the policies of their organization.
- Consider how to contribute to an inclusive environment amongst all colleagues, in person and remotely.

How to Manage Change, Employees

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

Downsizing, acquisition, re-orgs, mergers, layoffs - These transitions can be unsettling to any worker. Change, especially rapid, stressful change, can be challenging and difficult — even for the most resilient employee. But, change can bring opportunities for growth and positive transformation. This program introduces a healthy process for navigating workplace change.

Participants will:

- Assess the impact of multiple changes on one's life
- Identify the emotional phases associated with change
- Develop strategies to make change more rewarding
- Determine how to respond constructively to change in the workplace

Recommendations: This program is most effective when an HR representative attends. HR can address any questions about available employee resources, goals of the change and how the change is being implemented. This program is particularly helpful to employees prior to impending workplace change.

Communication

Business Etiquette

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: U.S. 30 minutes with Q&A, Non-U.S. 30 minutes with Q&A

When we make assumptions about how other people expect to be treated, we can easily make a faux pas. Small things that we take for granted, in the culture of another company or another country can turn out to be rude or disrespectful. Clearly this can have a detrimental effect on working relationships. In this presentation and discussion, we avoid providing specific etiquette rules but instead we explore how to keep our antennae alert to what is appropriate for the setting in which we are working. And, once we are sensitized to the norms of others, adjust our online and in person behavior accordingly. This is a 30-minute training designed to get people tuned-in to the main issues and empowered to develop their own range of tools and techniques.

Participants will:

- Get general guidance on being polite and respectful in any situation.
- Learn how to use social cues to build relationships.
- Think about how to adjust their behavior to fit in.

Communication: Beyond The Basics

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: U.S. Delivery Time: 1 hour with Q&A, Non-U.S. Delivery Time: 1 hour with Q&A Every day, there are more and more ways to communicate but that increase in quantity does not always mean an improvement in quality. Quite the opposite, as we get more hurried so too do our meetings, emails, phone calls, texts, and posts. Whether communication is virtual or face to face there are some golden guidelines that help ensure people understand us and we have the desired impact. Learning to think, speak and write effectively is a life skill that underpins all successful careers. In this program, Optum offers a second-level training, suitable for people who have already gained a basic understanding of the principles of communication.

Participants will:

- Learn and use multiple perspectives.
- Get clear about their objectives.
- Use chunking and linking to structure communication.
- Apply tips to be memorable and persuasive

How to Improve Communication Skills, Employee

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

Communication is at the heart of professional and personal interactions. Depending on skill level, the ways we communicate can open doors to productive relationships, a good working climate and opportunities. But lack of solid skills can close doors. This training offers participants a chance to apply skills that are critical to good communication and they'll learn about factors that positively influence communication — as well as those that may create barriers.

Participants will:

- Practice active listening
- Learn the value of assertive communication
- Discuss the role of nonverbal communication
- Use positive communication for problem-solving
- Determine what makes communication effective

Diversity

Bias and What We Can Do About It Targeted Audience: All employees Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A Unconscious bias training has been at the bedrock of Diversity and Inclusion programs for some years, but there is evidence that it may be less effective than we would like. That may be because it often leaves people shamed by their own thinking. In this training we approach things from a different perspective, acknowledging that we all hold tendencies to lean one way or another but when our behavior is mindless and creates an unequal world, that's when we need to act.

Participants will:

- Explore the human mental physiology and why we have bias hard wired into us
- Learn what we can do about our own behavior to make the workplace fairer and more inclusive;
- Establish how we can stand-alongside others who are not-like-us but deserve to be treated right.

How to Support LGBTQI+ Employees in the Workplace

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

Among any group there will be a range of people with a range of sexualities and genders. This variation is often described using the image of a Rainbow to demonstrate that sexual orientation and gender identity can be more than one or other type. Our training program considers how to create a positive work environment where difference is understood and respected by touching on the subject from a common humanity perspective. The program is interactive and covers a wide range of topics in an hour.

Participants will:

- Learn the difference between sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression
- Understand LGBTQI+ terminology
- Explore how different cultures approach this topic
- Practice how to start a conversation with someone in the LGBTQI+ community in a way that is respectful and use their preferred pronouns
- Learn how to be an ally in the workplace
- Know how to deal with issues of disrespect or safeguarding in the workplace

Healthy Workplace

Creating Harmony between Generations at Work

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

Today's workplace dynamics are rapidly changing. It's possible for one workplace to have four different generations on the same team sharing the same space. Because different generations bring their own values, rules and styles, that can sometimes lead to conflict or unproductive competition. This program can help participants understand generational differences — and get tips for creating a harmonious work environment.

Participants will:

- Determine strengths of each generation
- Explore the values that drive each generation
- Develop techniques to create harmonious work teams

Preventing Sexual Harassment, Employee (US Only)

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

Any form of sexual harassment in the workplace is a key business issue. However, lack of clarity and discomfort with these issues abound. This training program uses lecture, written exercises and group discussion to focus on the legal definition of sexual harassment, the costs to the organization and how employees at all levels can contribute to an appropriate, respectful work atmosphere.

Participants will:

- Introduce employees to the concept of sexual harassment and the relevant federal guidelines
- Introduce skills needed to identify, stop and prevent sexual (and other forms of) harassment
- Increase awareness of issues involving Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender (LGBT) people in the workplace and how gender stereotyping plays a role in harassment
- Identify types of sexual harassment affecting work relationships

• Recognize how every employee can contribute to the prevention of sexual harassment in the workplace Client information and recommendations: This program is most effective when a representative from the HR department attends and participates in the discussion. HR can address questions about your organization's specific policies and reporting procedures regarding sexual harassment. HR also might provide information regarding the prevalence of workplace sexual harassment complaints.

Due to legal constraints, our trainers cannot answer specific questions related to state or federal law, or interpret internal organizational policy.

Because this training deals with laws, policies and specific behaviors — and is designed to keep the company compliant — we're not willing to compromise the information contained within the program by offering it in an abbreviated time frame.

Safety

Covid-19: Employees in a Heightened Emotional State (Webinar Only)

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

Given the current conditions due to the pandemic, it is no surprise that many employees are succumbing to heightened emotions. Many are torn between the frustration of being stuck at home and the fear of returning to the office. Concerns over children and elderly family members only exacerbate these emotions. This program will talk through some of the challenge's employees are facing and participants will learn how to take care of themselves in ways that can alleviate emotional distress and make an action plan for success

Participants will:

- Learn more about the range of their emotions
- Understand the difference between their old workplace and the new workplace
- Identify their responses to working from home
- Prepare for uncertainty
- Create an action plan to regulate their emotions

Substance Use Disorder in the Workplace, Employee

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

(If DOT is included, add 15 to 30 minutes)

Employees will get information about the negative effects of substance use and how to get help. They will also be encouraged to stop enabling a co-worker's substance use.

Participants will:

- Examine the drugs that most often get abused
- Identify resources for assistance and how to use them
- Determine the extent of substance abuse in the workplace
- Recognize signs and symptoms that may impact a safe and productive work environment

Recommendations: This program is most effective when an HR representative (or other appropriate staff) is present to address specific workplace policy information and to participate in the discussion.

U.S. Only: While numerous organizations use this program to meet department of transportation, department of defense and department of energy employee education requirements, it's the responsibility of the customer company to determine if this session will meet regulatory needs.

Note: Due to legal constraints, our trainers cannot answer specific questions related to state or federal law, or interpret internal organizational policy.

Resilience: Beyond the Basics Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

There is a popular saying that we are made stronger through our difficulties. Now science has caught up with popular culture and there is evidence that it is true. Usually, we consider that resilience is a dynamic process of adaptation to adversity, but this assumes that we simply use our resilience to bounce back to our previous state. Instead, research is showing that there is another level where we actually emerge from set-backs even stronger. This seminar will explore the attendees' experiences that can leave them more resilient and ready to cope with adversity. Note: This is a more advanced presentation on resilience and assumes participants have been to a course covering the basics of resilience such as Build Your Resilience.

Participants will explore:

- The role of a personal ecosystem
- Developing emotional insight
- Becoming more reflective
- Integration of adversity to ensure a more enduring bounce back

Stress: Beyond the Basics

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

This is a theory-light program on stress and assumes that participants have attended one of our other tutorials on stress (for example, Get the Best of Stress or Preventing Burnout). It is important that anyone attending this seminar knows about issues such as, "what stress is" and "how it affects us". This background understanding allows this program to focus entirely on four lenses for dealing with stress. Consequently, the program is very practical and very personalized making it highly relevant and impactful in today's difficult times.

Participants will explore, adapt, and adopt:

- Physical-oriented approaches: used to mobilize the body in positive ways to mitigate the effects of stress
- Emotion-oriented approaches: used to change the way we see a stressful situation
- Acceptance-oriented approaches: used for dealing with stressful situations we just cannot control
- Action-orientated approaches: used to take action to change a stressful situation
- The specific combination that works best for keeping an individual's stress levels under control

How to Support Mental Health Concerns with Friends and Family

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

From time to time we all have friends or family who suffer with low mood. When low mood persists, it is hard to know what to do, especially when you worry about making things worse. This is not a program about your mental and emotional health, but it is about the very positive role you can play in other's wellness. Because you are probably not a doctor or health professional, there are limits to the support you can provide, so it is important to know those boundaries. Then, once you understand those limitations there are many helpful and supportive conversations and actions you can be taking.

Participants will:

- Understand the boundaries of being a supportive friend vs the role of professionals
- Know how to overcome social stigma and start the conversation
- Identify questions to ask and actions to take
- Recognize the importance of being there
- Learn that talking about suicide will not make things worse
- Explore how to follow up without being intrusive

Menopause and Mental Health

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

Menopause marks the end of a woman's period and reproductive years. Some women look forward to this change, while others do not. Most women, however, do not welcome the symptoms that come with menopause, particularly when it comes to their mental health. This session will unpack menopause and mental health, dispelling some of the myths and presenting the facts. This session will also include practical strategies for women entering this stage in life, as well as for their colleagues, managers and organizations wishing to understand more and provide support.

Participants will:

- Understand what menopause is and how it can affect mental health.
- Explore how culture may impact a woman's experience of menopause.

• Discuss how to open a dialogue about menopause in the workplace and what may help on an individual and an organizational level.

Personal Growth/Challenges

Compassion Fatigue

Targeted Audience: All employees Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

When your job or circumstances invite you to view the world from the perspective of the suffering it is possible to suffer too. The very act of being compassionate and empathic extracts a cost under most circumstances. This depletion is known as compassion fatigue or, sometimes, vicarious trauma. Compassion fatigue can be debilitating robbing individuals of their spark of optimism, sense of humor and hope. It can be exhausting. In this one-hour program we cover the three things every professional helper needs to know. In addition, the program poses some questions back to participants to encourage them to reflect on whether they are at risk, thereby supporting them in any decision they may take to seek follow up.

Participants will

- Gain understanding of how to self-assess their risk
- Understand compassion fatigue
- Be able to self-monitor
- Put self-care strategies in place

Social Media: Use and Misuse

Targeted Audience: All employees

Delivery Time: 1-hour with Q&A

It is easy to demonize social media and to think of all the negative unintended consequences that it can have on our lives. In this workshop we explore both sides of the issue, recognizing that there are great benefits and many reasons for us to engage with social media. Of course, there is a downside too, if it becomes too compulsive and if we are unable to switch off. We all read about it having the potential to be addictive and harmful. There are many simple changes we can make that helps keep social media fun and relevant.

Participants will:

- Learn the broader physiological context for social media use
- Build a framework for thinking about social media use
- Be equipped with tools to help manage social media use
- Gain understanding of how to talk to their children, young and adolescents about these issues

Management Consultation/CIRS

Table of Contents

Management Consultation

Optum provides managers and supervisors with the confidence and resources to handle everyday challenges of people management. Being a successful and confident manager requires the ability to effectively face complex situations and demands. Most of the time, managers are well equipped and prepared to handle staff issues. However, issues such as behavior, performance or even dress and personal hygiene can create tensions and strain relationships if not addressed, or worse, if addressed badly. It can be challenging to balance concern for the employee while directly addressing underlying staff issue(s). Optum services provide support to help managers productively and fairly tackle such topics while still achieving a positive outcome.

Typical management issues include:

- · Coaching a newly promoted employee who is not performing to expectations
- Managing a problematic employee and the effect their behavior is having on the team
- Breaking bad news
- Dealing with a bullying boss or organization
- Supporting an individual or team through the effects that substance abuse may have within workplaces

Keep in mind that contacting your Employee Assistance Program (EAP) for Manager Consultation Service is not intended to take the place of Human Resources (HR) or internal consulting services, but as an additional source of support for managers.

To access Optum's Manager Consultation Service, place a call to your EAP. Managers and supervisors are connected with consultants who have experience in managing people and broader organizational issues.

Critical Incident Response Services (CIRS)

Critical Incident Response Service is a service provided by Optum[®] that offers trauma support in response to an unplanned event. The goal is to help your colleagues and team recover quickly and return to their daily lives and work. The program can also help reduce the risk of post-traumatic stress.

A critical incident (or trauma) is any sudden or unexpected incident that can greatly impact a person's physical, emotional or psychological wellbeing or sense of safety. It can include:

- The death of a colleague or customer
- A workplace accident
- Security threat or terrorist incident
- Offering support after a fire, flood or other major incident.

To arrange for on-site CIRS, please call Optum using your EAP phone number and listen for the prompts.
